

Building Blocks for Non-Profits
The Art of Governance; 21st Century Boards
Tuesday, October 25, 2011

8:30 a.m. – 11:30 a.m., Pre-registration at 8:15 a.m.

Program Overview

Please join other Non-Profit Executives in a workshop to explore strategies to develop your Board so that they can guide your organization effectively into the 21st century. We will:

- Learn why board development is important.
- Explore ways different Boards are responding to the needs of their organizations
- Examine the value of different Board structures and practices.
- Create a framework to assess Board effectiveness.
- Explore ways you can influence your Board's development

The Presenters

Barry Morris is the founder and CEO of Left Lane Consulting, LLC. Barry has combined his organization development, human resource, and social work capabilities with practical business and executive experience to quickly understand an organization's needs and to develop and facilitate processes that help organizations achieve desired results. Barry specializes in strategic planning, organization design and development, change management, leadership development and Board development. He has a Ph.D. in Organization Behavior and Development from Case Western Reserve University and a Masters Degree in Social Work from Ohio State University. He was an executive with Chiquita Brands International where he worked for 15 years. He has been the Board Chairman of Beech Acres Parenting Center and Jewish Family Services and has served on several other non-profit and for profit Boards of Directors.

Meghan Clarke, founder and CEO of M E Clarke Consulting, specializes in mediation, leadership development, facilitation and strategic visioning. As a consultant, she participates in project design and implementation focused on transitions management, conflict analysis, problem solving and facilitation. She completed her Masters at the School of International Service at American University, studying International Peace and Conflict Resolution in Washington DC and received her BA from Xavier University. She is a certified Transitions Coach with Linkages and has several certificates in mediation, always keeping abreast of advances in the field. Currently Meghan is a board member at the Jesuit Spiritual Center at Milford.
